

Suggested Summer Book List - With Matching Lexile Levels

Students First Educational Consulting, Inc.
Andria Bunner

- The books provided are simply suggestions. Please talk with the local librarian for assistance with selecting other books in your child's Lexile range.
- The Lexile range for your child represents the range where your child is reading. Books at the lower end of their range should be able to be read independently. Books at the higher end of their range may require some adult support.

OTHER TIPS TO PROMOTE READING:

- Make sure students read daily.
- Turn off the volume on the television and encourage the reading of closed captioning.
- Remember your child also needs to hear you read aloud.

- Make reading a family event. Schedule a certain time each day for reading to take place.
- Encourage your child to write about what they have read, and share with an adult.
- When encountering an unknown word use the dictionary to determine the meaning of the word.
- Find topics your child is interested in reading about.
- Remember reading is a wonderful way to discover new information. Encourage your child to read both literary and informational books.

Lexile Levels for books were obtained from www.lexile.com

Reading tips to promote reading were located using many research books about teaching reading and my personal teaching experiences.
